Tulips, Daffodils

AND MISCELLANEOUS BULBS

DAVID J. SCOTT CORFU, NEW YORK

1935 BULB PRICE LIST

PRIMARILY our business is the forcing of Tulips, Daffodils and Miscellaneous bulbs for the cut-flower markets of the large Eastern Cities. Each winter hundreds of thousands of these flowers are sent from Corfu to florists in New York, Baltimore, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Buffalo and Rochester.

As the bulbs from which these flowers are produced (with the exception of Daffodils) are imported from Holland each fall, it is natural that over these many years, we should have learned the sources from which the best bulbs are procurable; not only the districts in Holland in which the best bulbs are produced, but the actual growers who have the most suitable bulb lands, the finest facilities for the storage and curing of the bulbs, and finally, those who are the most trustworthy.

A few years ago some of our friends, knowing of our large importation of bulbs, asked us to include some for them. We did—and each year since, more and more of our friends have made the same request, and so a business developed. Now as orders come from hundreds of people with whom we are not personally acquainted, we like to feel that they are all friends asking us to procure for them some of the choice bulbs which we import for our own purposes, and we in turn have a personal interest in seeing that they get them.

Because we list and display in our grounds the new and expensive varieties as soon as the Holland growers are willing to send us a few bulbs, a casual glance at the prices in our list may give the impression that our bulbs in general are high priced. This is not so. All the good standard varieties of Tulips are listed and these are very reasonable. The new varieties remain higher in price until a plentiful supply of the bulbs becomes available.

We would like you to keep in mind that while we endeavor to keep our prices as low as possible, price is not our first consideration. We want you to have the same results as we have, and to that end, furnish you bulbs which produce these results.

DAVID J. SCOTT, CORFU, N. Y.

VISITORS WELCOME

During the month of May, visitors are cordially invited to view our display grounds. Each year several hundred varieties of Tulips and nearly one hundred varieties of Daffodils are planted. At flowering time they are indescribably beautiful and no illustrations or descriptions in catalogues can do them justice. Of special interest this spring will be the newer varieties of Daffodils which we have recently imported under special permit, and the showing of sixty varieties of the new Ideal Darwin Tulips.

In this vicinity, Daffodils are in flower from the 1st to the 15th of May.

The flowering dates for Tulips will be found in detail under Tulip Classes, pages 4 and 5.

Tulip Classes

Most people are confused by the terms applied to the various classes of late-flowering garden Tulips, that is, Breeder, Cottage, Darwin, etc.

These names do not mean that they are distinct species; they are simply classes the varieties of which have certain characteristics in common. The amateur gardener need not be greatly concerned about these various classes, and should not be prejudiced for or against any one. We say this for the reason that we know people who would plant only Darwins. To do so would be to restrict your selection to a very limited range of colors and deny your garden the rich colors only to be found in the Breeders and the Improved Cottage (Hybrid) Tulips. Others have remarked that they would not again plant Cottage Tulips; no doubt because they were acquainted only with the older varieties.

In the selection of varieties of the late-flowering garden Tulips, your main consideration should be in choosing those with qualities which particularly appeal to you; that is, coloring, size and form of flower, length of stem, etc. No one class has a monopoly on all these good qualities.

To answer the numerous questions asked, we offer, as simply as possible, the following explanation.

EARLY FLOWERING TULIPS MAY 1st TO 15th

Both single and double varieties are to be found in this class. They flower from the 1st to the 15th of May. The stems are medium length, 10" to 18". The colors are bright and attractive, and being stiff and upright in growth, are suitable for formal planting, the mass of bright colors creating a beautiful effect.

Most varieties are very suitable for flowering in pots in the home and can be had in flower ahead of the Darwins.

We recommend their use in the average garden to a limited extent. A few groups will prolong the Tulip season, and add bright colors to your garden at a time when it might otherwise be unattractive.

TRIUMPH TULIPS, MAY 5th TO 18th

This class originated as a result of crossing various varieties of the Early Flowering type, with the Darwins. They are intermediate in flowering between these two classes, which is a desirable feature. In addition, the Triumphs embrace the widest range of colors of any class of Tulips, and many beautiful color combinations are included. They come in both single and double varieties, varying in height, some being only 12 inches while others reach 26 inches.

LATE FLOWERING TULIPS MAY 15th TO 30th

For the reason that there are several classes among the late flowering Tulips, each will be considered separately.

Darwin Tulips. (May 15th to 30th). The varieties of this class are of comparatively recent introduction, and are unquestionably at the height of their popularity at the present time. Their chief characteristics are the cup-shape of the flower, fleshy substantial petals, and long strong stems, averaging from 24" to 36". The colors cover a wide range and as a rule the flower is of one solid color, though some varieties are a combination of two or more shades. The Darwins flower from the 15th to the 30th of May, depending on the variety, and are particularly long lasting. Certain short-growing varieties are fine for flowering in pots in the home.

Ideal Darwins. (May 15th to 30th). These are what might be called the second generation, that is, seedlings of the original collection of Darwin Tulips. They inherit all the good qualities that have made the Darwins the most popular garden Tulip in America. At this point, you might reasonably ask "In what respect do they excell to justify any fuss being made over them?" They bring to us a wonderful variety of beautiful colors, we might say, "a gaiety of colors" not hitherto existing in Tulips of the Darwin type. Also, being a race of seedlings, a new generation, they possess sturdiness of growth and lasting qualities in the flowers, lacking in some of the older varieties. This year we will have on display practically the entire collection of Ideal Darwins. They are planted in several beds in a block by themselves, and visitors will have an opportunity of judging as to their value. In listing the varieties in this price list, we have used the introducer's descriptions.

Breeder Tulips. (May 15th to 30th). The varieties embracing this class include those soft shades which combine so beautifully with the bright colors of the Darwins and the Cottage Tulips. We have tried out dozens of varieties, and after eliminating the undesirable colors, we believe our planting now includes all the good varieties. They flower with the Darwins and are identical in size of flower, length of stem, and most other respects.

Cottage Tulips—Hybrid Tulips. (May 12th to 30th). Cottage Tulips as a class are very old, and in the old-time gardens were the ones mainly used. Many of the original varieties are still cultivated and have pleasing qualities. In general they are of medium height, 16" to 24". The stems are gracefully slender, and the flower is usually long and pointed. It is natural that many new and improved varieties would be originated during recent years, some as a result of crossing with the Darwins. These are classified as Hybrid or improved Cottage Tulips, and compare favorably in all respects with the Darwins and Breeders. The best yellow, white and certain other colors, not found in any other type, are included in this class. The flowering period extends from about the 12th to the 30th of May depending on the variety.

Complete instructions for the planting of Tulip bulbs will be furnished with each order.

As a matter of convenience, all varieties are listed alphabetically, with a brief color description. Approximate height in inches is also given. For flowering date of the individual variety, note the class to which it belongs, and refer to a description of these classes. This information will be of assistance in selecting varieties and their proper arrangement at planting time.

Color Classification

To make selection easier, we list the following Tulips as to color. This is not intended to classify all the varieties in our price list; it is simply to call attention to a few varieties which are outstanding in their respective colors. For complete description, see alphabetical list.

Tulips

It would be impractical to display in our grounds and list all the varieties of Tulips under cultivation. In some cases we have omitted varieties because of the limited amount of stock available, and we consider the price too high. These will be listed as soon as conditions justify. In other instances we have eliminated varieties because repeated trials have demonstrated the superiority of other varieties of a like color. However, we wish to consider your preferences and shall be pleased to quote and procure for you bulbs of any recognized variety of Tulips, provided your request is received in time to secure the bulbs from Holland.

"LATE-FLOWERING TULIPS IN A MIXTURE"

IS there anything nicer for your hall or living room table than a bowl or vase of long stemmed Tulips in a variety of colors? For this purpose we offer our own late-flowering Tulip mixture. By "our own" we mean that the bulbs are the ones lifted each summer from our own display grounds, and consist of the wide variety of beautiful colors which visitors are accustomed to seeing here. We could not purchase the varieties which go into this mixture and offer them at the prices quoted.

Late-Flowering Mixture, 50 bulbs, $2.25, 100 bulbs, $4.00, 250 bulbs, $9.00, 1000 bulbs, $35.00.

SMALLER BULBS AT A SMALLER PRICE

For those who wish to plant Tulips but feel they cannot afford the price we are obliged to ask for our "Top Quality Bulbs," we offer, in a limited number of excellent varieties, what is called a No. 2 Bulb; that is, a bulb slightly smaller than the size offered in our general list. In all other respects they are the same. They are as large or larger than the bulbs sold by those who handle bulbs as a side line, and in addition, we guarantee them true to name.

This No. 2 size is offered in the following twelve varieties only.

Afterglow	Farncombe Sanders
Baronne de la Tonnaye	Inglescombe Yellow
Bartigon	King Harold
Bleu Aimable	Pride of Haarlem
Clara Butt	Princess Elizabeth

Narcissus—Daffodils—Jonquils

CLASSIFICATION

For the information of those interested, we give the following simple explanation of the classification of the better known groups of Daffodils.

Division 1. TRUMPET DAFFODILS. Distinguishing character—Trumpet as long or longer than the perianth segments.*

Division 2. INCOMPARABILIS. Distinguishing character—Cup or crown not less than one-third, but less than equal to the length of the perianth segments.

Division 3. BARRI. Distinguishing character—Cup or crown less than one-third the length of the perianth segments.

Division 4. LEEDSII. Distinguishing character—Perianth white and cup or crown white, cream, or pale citron, sometimes tinged with pink or apricot. Cup or crown less than equal to the perianth segments.

*As these perianth segments resemble the petals in regularly formed flowers, in our descriptions of varieties, we refer to them as the perianth petals.

OUTDOOR CULTURE OF DAFFODILS

Daffodils thrive in any good garden soil, preferably deep well-drained loam. Deep preparation of the soil is necessary, and old rotted manure or compost may be worked in 16 or 18 inches below the surface, so as not to come in direct contact with the bulbs. Fresh manure should never be used.

Plant in the early fall, September and October. The more vigorous, larger varieties may be planted as late as December, but early planting is best.

In medium soils, cover the bulbs about twice their depth, and a little deeper in the lighter soils. The average for most sorts is four to five inches from the top of the bulb. Set the bulbs at a uniform depth, otherwise they may flower irregularly.

NATURALIZING

Daffodils planted in clusters in the foreground of shrubbery, or sown broadcast through woodlands, along hillsides, or in meadows, and planted where they fall, give a most pleasing natural effect. They will increase in beauty and number without special care, and become permanently established.

CULTURE OF DAFFODILS IN POTS OR BOXES.

Daffodils should be potted in October or November in good garden soil.

The old pots should be washed and allowed to dry before using. New pots should be soaked. Provide drainage by placing pieces of charcoal or fragments of pots over the drainage hole.

During the period when the bulbs are rooting, they should be kept in a cool place—buried in a sheltered spot in the garden—placed in a coldframe with some protection—or placed in a cool room in the cellar where the temperature is under 45. Keep uniformly moist—not wet—and in a semi-dark position.

After ten or twelve weeks they may be removed indoors for flowering. Select the earliest varieties first, thus extending the flowering season.

Do not bring them into a warm temperature. 50 to 60 degrees is best at first. Do not give any bottom heat. Later when the flower buds are well advanced, the temperature may be increased to not more than 65 degrees.

Hardy Lilies

LILIES are among the most beautiful and ornamental flowers, and easy to grow in average garden soil where good drainage is provided. The varieties we list are hardy and provide a succession of bloom throughout the season. The stem-rooting varieties should be planted 8 to 10 inches deep, and those which only send out roots from base of bulb are better not covered over 3 inches in light soil, and where there is clay 2 inches will be better.

The roots should not be removed from the bulbs before planting as this may cause them to lie dormant an entire season.
